DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. See MPEP § 2173.05(c). Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). In the present instance, claims 1 and 15 recite the broad recitation "fluid medium ... removing thermal energy", and the claims also recite "generator" which is the narrower statement of the range/limitation. Since removal of thermal energy is claimed in the broadest sense and no structure is provided for this feature the subject of the heat removal must be considered as an exemplary and the claims are indefinite.

Claims 2-14 and 16-20 are indefinite because they depend on the rejected claim and do not correct the noted problem.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. As far as they can be understood and interpreted Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Murray (US 3,805,082), and further in view of Pleskach et al., and the common knowledge in the art.

It is understanding of the examiner that applicant(s) claim a system for generating of an electrical energy with an internal combustion engine driving a generator and having fluid cooling features. There are no structural arrangements provided or means for the operation of the system and, as broadly as it is claimed and can be interpreted, the claimed system reads on any portable generator with combustion engine, generator and fluid cooling, which are well known in the art.

Murray teaches portable power generator with internal combustion engine, generator and fluid cooling system as in applicant(s) claimed features of the invention. Murray is not specific about cooling electronics of the system, but such possibility exists in his arrangement and it is very obvious feature, which is well known to one of ordinary skill in the art. For example, Pleskach et al. teaches specific arrangement for cooling the electronics, which can be utilized for the claimed system by the ordinary designer if required.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to design power generation system as taught by Murray and to add electronics cooling as taught by Pleskach et. al. or as commonly known in the art in order to have power generating system with internal combustion engine and a generator, and their control electronics, cooled by a fluid medium.

Conclusion

5. When the claims are amended, applicant(s) should state in detail where in the original disclosure or in the drawings the amended features find support. No new matter may be introduced.
